

Clarification on Devon Energy's engagement in the PRT Report

On April 22 Devon Energy expressed to us their disappointment in realizing that the 2008 Report on Revenue Transparency of Oil and Gas companies was going to be published without having had the opportunity to review their data. The consultant in charge of gathering the data and managing the company reviews has indicated to Transparency International that indeed after establishing communication in regards to Devon Energy's data review, they failed to follow through with the review opportunity it had promised Devon. We regret this happened and would like to clarify for the record that Devon Energy did express interest in reviewing the data. We appreciate Devon Energy's engagement and interest in our work and hope it will continue in future activities.
