

Corruption in the Health Sector: Seeking the Cure

Transparency International USA and the Center for Global Development present the launch of the Transparency International Global Corruption Report 2006: Corruption and Health

February 1, 2006

The University Club of Washington DC
University Hall, Second Floor, 1135 16th Street, NW
8:30 a.m. – 10:00 a.m.

A light breakfast will be available at 8:00 a.m. and the event will begin promptly.

Please RSVP to Caroline Walters by January 27 at cwalters@transparency-usa.org.

Introductions and Moderator:

Nancy Boswell - Managing Director, Transparency International USA

Speakers:

Rafael DiTella - Professor, Harvard Business School

Maureen Lewis - Senior Fellow, Center for Global Development

Magnus Lindelow (invited)- Economist, Human Development Sector, World Bank

Ted Moran - Non-Resident Fellow, Center for Global Development and Professor, Georgetown University School of Foreign Service

Gloria Steele - Deputy Assistant Administrator, Global Health, U.S. Agency for International Development

The 5th edition of the Transparency International Global Corruption Report focuses on the health sector, where lack of integrity can be a matter of life and death. Topics include the risks and scale of corruption in different systems, high-level corruption in Costa Rica, counterfeit medicines in Nigeria, health care fraud in the United States, conflicts of interest in the pharmaceutical chain, and corruption in the fight against HIV/AIDS. For more information on the report: <http://www.globalcorruptionreport.org/>.