Bribery: a risk companies cannot afford to ignore

High-profile corporate scandals in recent years have made companies increasingly aware that corrupt practices pose serious and costly risks to their reputations, market value, and overall operations.

Furthermore, stringent new anti-bribery laws and growing public expectation of accountability and probity are putting increasing pressure on companies to operate in accordance with higher ethical standards.

Anti-bribery management: a key instrument to enhance company performance

Companies that set up an anti-bribery program can manage risks more effectively and improve their operational efficiency.

The first step is to translate values and policies that underpin an anti-bribery program into operational objectives and measurable indicators.

This will allow companies to embed their anti-bribery program into core operations, share best practices, and track progress towards real results for countering bribery.

Transparency International and Enablon combine their expertise to provide an anti-bribery software solution

Transparency International, the global coalition against corruption, and Enablon, the world's leading corporate responsibility software provider have joined forces to produce Enablon ABS, a solution dedicated to the assessment and improvement of corporate anti-bribery systems.

Enablon ABS is designed for use by those responsible for anti-bribery programs such as ethics or compliance officers, legal counsels or internal auditors.

Enablon provides the robust and secure technological platform already used by over 100 leading global companies for non-financial reporting and management, while Transparency International contributes its in-depth expertise in anti-bribery programs.

Enablon Anti-Bribery System

A unique business-oriented solution designed to enable effective anti-bribery programs

“There is substantial evidence that many companies fail to implement their anti-bribery policies adequately. Enablon ABS is a vital tool for companies wishing to assess the adequacy of their anti-bribery systems and provides a strong foundation for continuous improvement.”

Choose your version

The systematic management of anti-bribery policies and programs is an emerging practice in many companies. To accommodate different levels of awareness and practice, there are two versions of Enablon ABS: a diagnostic version, Enablon ABS Corporate, and a global management version, Enablon ABS Enterprise.

Assess your situation

Enablon ABS offers diagnostic functions that enable users to identify risks and areas for improvement. It offers potential solutions by providing access to expert knowledge and assists companies in strengthening their anti-bribery systems. Enablon ABS provides a foundation for internal and external reporting and assurance.

Improve your controls

The advanced version, Enablon ABS Enterprise, allows you to assess your anti-bribery system not only at corporate level but also across your subsidiaries and business units. Based on the diagnosis of your business units, you can define and monitor action plans to improve anti-bribery systems of the relevant units. This will also enable you to continuously upgrade your company's level of readiness and the effectiveness of its anti-bribery system.

Learn from the experts

Based on the Business Principles for Countering Bribery, developed by Transparency International with the cooperation of global companies and other stakeholders, Enablon ABS incorporates good practice for countering bribery, including the experience gained from field tests, workshops and discussions with leading companies. Enablon ABS users will benefit from the built-in feedback of the world's foremost experts on anti-bribery management.

Enhance your compliance

Enablon ABS Enterprise is a flexible solution: you can incorporate your company's own indicators and benchmark your company against different anti-bribery codes.

Content will be integrated and updated regularly to reflect the rapid evolution of the anti-bribery environment.

Enablon ABS Enterprise allows you to add your own codes and principles, making it an all-in-one compliance platform for your company.

Share best practices

Enablon ABS Enterprise includes an integrated document database which enables users to easily upload key anti-bribery documents, store company documents and share policies, guidelines, and best practices.
